Designing a website

One way to test your idea with your audience or to demonstrate your idea to the judges is to build a website.

Websites can be very quick and easy to build using 'drag and drop, no coding required' type of website builders.

All the examples have a free version you can use

Weebly - <https://www.weebly.com/uk/pricing>

(This is what the Social Storm website is built on)

Wix - <http://www.wix.com/>

This is great for very visual websites

What should you think about?

Why do you need a website?

What purpose does it have? Raise awareness? Be a e-commerce website?

What information should it contain?

How can you show someone your product in the simplest way possible?

Who is the website for? Who is the intended audience?
